

What Educators are Saying...

Rick Wormeli: “Differentiated Grading: Fair Isn’t Always Equal”
September 8, 2011

“A wonderful, high energy speaker who provided relevant information on a current issue.”

“Rick Wormeli was perhaps the best speaker I have 'ever' had the pleasure of seeing. Not only was he incredibly informative and thought-provoking, but was humorous to boot. Thank you for having him on your schedule this year!”

“What would you get if you put Steve Martin, Robin Williams, and a dedicated teacher in a blender? Answer..... Rick Wormeli!!! Outstanding!”

“Rick was an amazing speaker. He really challenged me to see assessment in the classroom differently. Now, everything I do in my classroom is different. I have already seen an increase in student understanding, which is the whole outcome of education, as Rick discussed. I appreciate Furman having these seminars, and I can't wait to attend more!”

“This was the best seminar I have ever been to! Very exciting, informative, and applicable to my classroom. He addressed the issues that I have been struggling with as a teacher, and explained how I can make it work in my classroom! Thank you!”

“Possibly the best staff development I've attended, and not just for pure entertainment (it was definitely the most entertaining). It changed my thinking 14 years into the profession.”

Jim Fay:
Nine Essential Skills for the Love & Logic Classroom®
October 19, 2011

“I went back to my school that very same day and tried some of his suggestions! They worked! Loved the "Love and Logic" of it all.”

“Made a difference in the way I look at approaching kids. So beneficial!”

“I started to implement some of the Love and Logic techniques the very next day in my classroom as well as with my 3 small children... I can't wait to learn more!!”

“Jim was excellent. He was humorous, knowledgeable, and a pleasure to listen to.”

“This seminar was extremely applicable to today's schools and the teachers in the classroom. I feel that the largest obstacle for teachers is dealing with issues that stem from the child's home and the more resources they have regarding behavior and dealing with parents, the better they will be in educating the child.”

“Jim Fay was engaging and loaded with important, easy to use tools that can make all the difference! I saw him years ago, he has only gotten better! A+ Thank you so very much for bringing him!”

Coming soon:

Debbie Donovan, February 10, 2012:

“Algebra for All”

Katherine Bomer, April 19, 2012:

“Writing in Response to Literature:
Practical, Quick, and Engaging Ways to Write about Texts
(Without Killing Reading in the Process!)”